ANNUAL REPORT

2013-2014

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dur theme this year has been "Stir into Flame the Gift of Jod". I believe this passage from Timothy urges us to both cherish God's gifts to us and to utilize them for His glory and the spread of His kingdom. Our Sister students have been given the gift of a religious vocation. Their congregations have urged them to pursue a college education and that is such a gift. The fact that each May at Commencement, a group stands before us proves that they have used this gift well. Our young postulant graduates have stirred the gift of their religious vocation and education nto flame as they continue in initial formation with the Sisters of Christian Charity.

Nhen I consider God's gifts, I think not only of our students, out my fellow administrators, faculty, support staff and Board of Trustees here at the college. They are on fire with what hey do—enriching the minds and hearts of our students.

So, this past May, I enjoined our Graduates, as they leave Assumption College for Sisters, to cherish and utilize the yifts they have been given. St. Ignatius Loyola told his best riend, St. Francis Xavier, "Go forth, set the world on fire." Whether this is here in the United States, in Tanzania, in /ietnam, or in the Philippines, in the words of St. Ignatius, I said, "Go forth, set the world on fire!" And you, our readers, are making this possible! May God bless you for your aithfulness to ACS.

> Sister Joseph Spring, SCC President

ANNUAL REPORT

2013 marked the sixtieth anniversary of the birth of Assumption College for Sisters known at that time as Assumption Junior College. Although relatively young among the institutions of higher learning, the College has oots that reach back over a century and a half to a wise, aintly woman, Blessed Pauline von Mallinckrodt. Only four rears after founding the Sisters of Christian Charity, the Congregation which owns and operates the College, she established a Normal School for teachers in 1853 within the notherhouse in Paderborn, Germany.

Nother Pauline required her young Sisters to become as qualified professionally as their contemporary lay counterparts because she was convinced of the surpassing value of the ministry of education. Knowing, too, how mportant the Sisters' religious formation was, she provided or an integrated program of spiritual, intellectual, and cultural development.

Undaunted by religious persecution and the loss of nearly twenty institutions in Germany, she responded to the needs of the Church across the sea in the Americas.

Hardships were numerous, but the Mother Pauline retained her commitment to a holistic education of the young Sisters. Already in 1873 the new motherhouse in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, housed the Mallinckrodt Normal School, affiliated with the Bloomsburg Normal School (today Bloomsburg University).

The Normal School, transferred with the motherhouse to Vilmette, Illinois, developed into an accredited two-year college in 1923. When rapid growth of the Sisters of Christian Charity in North America resulted in the creation of he Eastern Province, God led them to scenic Mendham, New Jersey, where they established a second motherhouse. Faithful to the spirit of the Foundress, superiors immediately ntegrated the academic development of the young postulants and novices with their religious formation. Seton Hall College (now University) allowed the Sisters to function as an extension of its institution, a situation which continued Intil 1953.

Encouraged by Seton Hall, the Society of the Sisters of Christian Charity of New Jersey, under provision of its charter of incorporation, replaced the extension with Assumption Junior College, approved by the State in 1953. n 1961 this institution, newly entitled Assumption College for Sisters (ACS), was incorporated as a separate legal entity, authorized to confer appropriate academic degrees on vomen religious and those in the program of religious ormation.

Fimes are changing. Since 1899, the Sisters have naintained two large properties: the Motherhouse, first in Vilkes-Barre, PA and then in Mendham, NJ, along with Holy Family Convent and Infirmary in Danville, PA.

t is now time to bring the Sisters from Danville to the Aendham property. To make this possible, Assumption College for Sisters is in process of planning a move to the Aorris Catholic High School campus in Summer of 2015. Plans will be finalized in the very near future.

Both the Sisters of Christian Charity and Assumption College or Sisters have been good stewards of the resources entrusted to us and this move is further proof that good stewardship of resources will continue. Over the years our oyal friends and benefactors have enabled us to operate rear by year while at the same time growing an endowment und which will help ensure our financial sustainability. The Sisters of Christian Charity are no strangers to Morris Catholic High School. Back in 1960 when the diocese of Paterson established regional high schools, the Sisters of Christian Charity were the "founding order" of Morris Catholic. Throughout the years the SCCs have maintained a presence at the school so, in a sense, now we are "coming nome."

Ve can assure you that at our new site, the College is and still will remain the embodiment of the heritage received from 3lessed Pauline von Mallinckrodt. It witnesses to her conviction that the Sisters should be well-prepared, both spiritually and professionally, to spread the Kingdom of God hrough sound education, from which, in her words, "flows he temporal and eternal welfare of the individual and of society."

n recent years, ACS has welcomed an increasing number of vomen religious from Africa and Vietnam as full-time, esident students. Although the Sisters of Christian Charity had been accustomed to sponsoring a few international students periodically since 1968, the recent increase in students from developing nations represents a new direction n the College's mission of educating women religious.

Assumption College for Sisters also welcomes lay persons o earn credits in theology and philosophy courses and to oursue the Certificate in Theological Studies. They are nvited to audit any course and to attend workshops. Their presence is mutually beneficial to all members of the College community. By opening its doors to them, ACS deepens its commitment to the education of those who serve the Church hrough ministry.

Assumption College for Sisters is licensed by the Commission on Higher Education of the State of New Jersey and accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, 3624 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA, 19104, 267) 284-5000. The College earned its initial accreditation n 1965 and reaffirmation of accreditation in 1975, 1985, 1995, and 2005. ACS is currently in process of Self-Study eading to reaccreditation in 2016.

The College is a member of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools and the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities. It is an approved member of the Student and Exchange Visitor System (SEVIS) of the United States Department of Homeland Security.

Mission and Goals

Assumption College for Sisters exists primarily to educate women called to a life of service in the Roman Catholic Church. (Mission Statement)

Rooted in its 150 year history, the education of women called by God to the consecrated life remains the heart of he mission of Assumption College for Sisters and its principal claim to distinctiveness. The intellectual, cultural and spiritual development of these women is the reason for he existence of the college, the only Sister-formation college n existence in North America.

The goals of Assumption College for Sisters clearly support ts mission. This is clearly demonstrated by the involvement of the religious women who are students at the college, whether they be members of the sponsoring congregation, hose of neighboring religious congregations, or international Sisters here on scholarship. A few examples provide Ilustration.

Integrated Religious Formation

Fhroughout its history, Assumption College for Sisters has consistently maintained its focus and distinctive mission of educating women religious. By providing sound theology and philosophy courses in an atmosphere of integrity and shared vision, the administration and faculty strive to enhance the religious formation of the students within the context of their own distinctive community charisms.

nternational resident students as well as SCC students in nitial religious formation share in the daily prayer life of the Sisters of Christian Charity. Not only are feastdays and anniversaries of the SCCs commemorated liturgically, but nolidays and community feastdays of the religious congregations attending ACS are recognized. International esident students as well as the students in the Sisters of Christian Charity initial formation are offered opportunities for heir annual retreat along with the Sisters of Christian Charity.

Annually, the women in initial formation for the Sisters of Christian Charity attend the "Here I am, Lord" Conference, Mount St. Mary, Emmittsburg, MD, a weekend event.

t has become a tradition that both the Orientation Day liturgy as well as the Graduation liturgy reflect the cultures and anguages represented here at the college.

Each year, Most Rev. Arthur J. Serratelli, bishop of the liocese of Paterson in which Assumption College for Sisters s located, hosts a gathering for young religious of the liocese. Several students from Assumption College for Sisters were invited and benefited from the inspirational iturgy celebrated by the bishop and enjoyed his words of encouragement. In addition, students participated in the Paterson Diocesan Vespers for the Day of Consecrated Life vith an offering representing Vietnam, El Salvador and Burundi.

To heighten awareness of the local Church, a lecture offered at Assumption College for Sisters and open to the public was on the life and miracle of Sister Miriam Teresa Demjanovich entitled "A Saint in NJ?" Following up on this, as part of the nternational Sisters' Field Experience, a visit was made to her grave site in the Holy Family Chapel, Convent Station, NJ.

As opportunities present themselves in the curriculum, the nistory, traditions and charisms of the members of religious congregations attending the college are shared.

An alumna of ACS, currently the province leader of the -ranciscan Sisters of St. Elizabeth, invited first year ACS nternational students to the "Transitus" service on the eve of he feast of St. Francis at their Motherhouse.

Leadership

ACS strives to form women who will be a light for the world and a leaven in society. Whatever form their service may ake, Assumption's students need to be prepared to assume he responsibility of Christian leadership and the commitment to bring, through countercultural witness, the Bospel message to God's people. The College aims to nstill qualities of leadership in its students.

Students exercise their leadership skills in organizing and presenting various programs of entertainment for both Motherhouse community as well as for the public. This year, nternational students as well as the Sisters in initial ormation entertained as part of a musical concert given by rish tenor Ronan Tynan as well as at the annual Caring Basket Gala. SCC students and Salesian students of ACS conduct eligious education classes as well as sacramental retreats or elementary school students in a neighboring parishes. Salesian Novices conduct periodic Youth Nights for high school and college students.

Community

Community, founded on service and respect for each berson's dignity, ranks among Assumption's most cherished values. Intrinsic to its heritage, the College strives to further he vision of Blessed Pauline and the spirit of Christian Charity she imparted to her Sisters.

Despite the fact that the college student body speaks several lifferent languages as their native tongue, a great spirit of Christian love and unity exists among them.

A true community experience exists in what is known as the Sister to Sister" program. Cornerstone women, retreat participants from St. Joseph Parish, Mendham, have partnered with our international Sister-students. They provide friendship and encouragement. This year, they nosted various holiday get-togethers as well as initiating nformal exchanges such as shopping trips and visits to their nomes.

Also, as part of the civic community in which ACS is situated, several students attended the local Labor Day Parade in Mendham, experiencing this tradition for the first time. In the neighboring community of Bernardsville, NJ, the students applied for and received a library card, had a tour of the ibrary, discovered what community activities the library offers, and learned what is available to them for their esearch and entertainment. The Vietnamese celebration of Tet (Vietnamese New Year), he most important and popular holiday which celebrates the arrival of Spring, was celebrated by all students as well as he Motherhouse community. Beginning with Eucharistic iturgy, the celebration continued into the evening meal prepared by the Vietnamese students during which the nternational student body, including Sisters from Kenya, Fanzania, Burundi and the Philippines entertained with estive dance.

Service

Service, central to Christian discipleship, is an essential aspect of ACS. Students are expected to avail themselves of opportunities to prepare for a life of service in the Church. The dedicated, loving, generous service offered by alumnae n schools, health care, parishes, retreat ministry, and other ninistries both in the United States and developing nations, provide convincing confirmation of the irreplaceable value of Assumption College for Sisters.

On a regular basis, resident students respond to college and *A*otherhouse hospitality needs, offering service to both etreat centers: Villa Pauline and Quellen Spiritual Center.

n November, Vietnamese Sister students fulfilled a request nade by Sister Mary Edward, Chancellor of the Paterson Diocese, to perform a dance to the "Magnificat Song", in conjunction with a women's retreat she was giving at Corpus Christi Parish, in Chatham, NJ.

The students attended and participated in a Benefit Concert given by the famous Irish Tenor, Ronan Tynan. This was a vonderful experience! During the various breaks in Ronan's program, the Novices and Postulants, the Vietnamese and he African Sister-students performed for the entertainment of the many benefactors. The evening was a huge success and the proceeds went towards the ACS Scholarship Fund.

n December, the International Students were requested to berform a song and dance from their native countries for the Senior Citizen's Christmas Luncheon at St. Joseph Parish, in Mendham. Afterwards the student spent time visiting and sharing with the seniors.

On February 11, 2014, the international students participated n the Morris Catholic High School celebration of the feast of Our Lady of Lourdes, with traditional song and dance epresenting their various cultures.

Both the young women in initial formation as well as the nternational students entertained with song and dance at he Jubilee celebration for the Sisters of Christian Charity.

Several students accompany the Sisters of Christian Charity on a regular basis to visit the elderly in a local nursing home as well as an elderly friend of the college who is homebound.

[•]rior to and during the Caring Basket Gala, the major undraiser for ACS, students assisted with various tasks: selling of raffle tickets, serving as greeters, and providing entertainment.

n addition, as part of their religious formation, the SCC students in initial formation teach in the local parish religious education program on a weekly basis, assist the formation lirectresses in vocation outreach, and provide service to the ocal mission houses when needed. They also take part in events which allow them the opportunity to speak in small or arger groups on the topic of vocation and call to religious ife. They also assist in tutoring local elementary school students in need of help. The Sisters from neighboring religious congregations, Salesian Sisters and Sisters of Divine Vocation, are actively nvolved in the apostolates of their respective congregations, vhether it be retreat work or early childhood education.

Social Justice

Growing out of a firm belief in the dignity of each person, aculty and students at ACS strive to see the face of Jesus in all. They seek ways to embrace the poor and eliminate systems of oppression worldwide.

On September 21, the International Day of Peace Day ACS students led the commemorative service. Carrying in procession the flags of the nations represented here at the College: Burundi, El Salvador, Haiti, Indonesia, Kenya, the Philippines, Poland, South Korea, Tanzania, Uruguay, /ietnam, the United States of America. Students read the vords of various men and women of peace. At the conclusion of each reading, a bell was tolled after which they ecited in their native language, "Long live absolute world peace" the inscription on the Peace Bell at the United Vations, and the congregation responded the same in English.

n April, two students went to the Passaic Neighborhood Center for Women to help set up a garden that will be used or the growing of vegetables by the women who attend the center, helping the mothers feed their families.

SCC students in initial formation have volunteered with the Alissionary of Charity's La Vida Day Care Center in Paterson Summer service projects. They have also made over 65 orayer shawls for elderly and delivered them for Christmas.

Students of Th 098 Fundamentals of the Catholic Faith class and an extensive tour and explanation of the various outreaches of Corpus Christi Parish, Chatham Township, J.

The international resident students, as part of their Field Experience, visited Passaic Center for Women as well as Birth Haven, a home for unwed mothers and their infants.

Another way in which ACS aids the poor is by its participation in Better World Books, an organization which uses the power of business to change the world. We donate used books and also buy used books online to fund literacy nitiatives worldwide.

Curriculum

The liberal arts curriculum provides the principal vehicle of academic instruction at Assumption College for Sisters. Approved by the Commission on Higher Education of the State of New Jersey, the curriculum gives priority to Catholic heology and philosophy.

The liberal arts curriculum at Assumption College for Sisters aims at cultivating in students the critical skill of engaging in houghtful, meaningful dialogue as well as cultivating in students the habits of mind and heart which enable them to nake positive contributions in a rapidly changing society, all vithin the context of living a Christ-centered life.

The curriculum at Assumption College for Sisters is lesigned to reflect a global perspective that incorporates an awareness of and respect for the viewpoints, cultures, and sustoms of all peoples. Through the teaching and study of he contributions of the world community to humankind, ACS strives to broaden student horizons by realizing the connectedness of all individuals whose common needs call each person to strive for the peace and justice of Gospel eaching. n the Vatican document, "Educating Today and Tomorrow: A Renewing Passion" (Instrumentum Laboris), it states:

> "Schools and universities are places where people learn how to live their lives, achieve cultural growth, receiving educational training and engage in the pursuit of the common good; they provide the occasion and opportunity to understand the present time and imagine the future of society and mankind. At the root of catholic education is our Christian spiritual heritage which is part of a constant dialogue with the cultural heritage and the conquests of science; Catholic schools and universities are educational communities where learning thrives on the integration between research, thinking and life experience....Catholic schools and universities educate people, first and foremost, through the living context, i.e. the climate that both students and teachers establish in the environment where teaching and learning activities take place."

Although ACS emphasizes the liberal arts, current echnology provides a useful tool in the learning process. The library is automated and includes an electronic latabase, providing coverage of more than 1800 periodicals. Each classroom is equipped with internet access, a laptop and LCD projector. The recent acquisition of two Epson BrightLink Interactive projectors are used extensively by aculty.

The new technology has enabled instructors to use new echniques in teaching. Both Ph 205 Historical Introduction o Philosophy and Ph 203 Philosophy of the Human Person have become blended courses. A blended course combines he traditional face-to-face classroom with an online learning environment. With the assistance of the course nanagement system (CMS) application named Coursesites, a free version of Blackboard, the instructor is able to deliver and manage course content, assignments, learning esources, student's progress, and student's grades online. Through the use of audio and video lectures, which are Iploaded on the CMS application, and supplementary videos and articles, students access their course content prior to having their face-to-face class. This allows the student to eview the content at her own pace. The face-to-face class ime is used to clarify questions, engage in discussion, expand on complex concepts, and work on collaborative projects. Through weekly blog postings and responses, students interact with their instructor and peers online. Students are challenged to make use of online educational ools such as Blendspace, Google Hang Out, Google Applications and Drive, and Google Shared Documents. These resources have enriched, expanded, and extended he learning environment beyond the classroom walls.

All curricular offerings are faithful to the mission and goals of Assumption College for Sisters and faithful to the Catholic Intellectual tradition in which every discipline is open to searching for the good, the true and the beautiful.

Enrollment

During the Fall Semester, ACS opened with 45 students, ncluding both full-time and part-time: 22 international students, 5 Sisters of Christian Charity, 9 Sisters from local eligious communities, and 9 lay students.

Student enrollment was comprised of 14 different religious congregations representing 12 different countries. The ollowing communities were enrolled:

Administration and Faculty

n a recent publication, Integritis, Boston College, Thomas Plante, Ph.D.of Santa Clara University, observed "Catholic iberal arts educators can proclaim boldly that we are in the pusiness of formation and transformation of students at nultiple levels and in multiple ways. We want our students o be competent, ethical, and compassionate global citizens who are thoughtful, savvy, deep thinkers who love learning and who love helping others."

Dedicated and qualified members of the faculty invite their students to learn wisdom. The instructors themselves are he most effective mode of instruction, providing students vith a living example of their aspirations. Alumnae and surrent students alike testify that the ACS faculty is shallenging and demanding, requiring hard work and ntegrity. Loving, caring and concerned, they are willing to give students the time and attention they need.

The position of Academic Dean and Dean Registrar had been successfully divided at the outset of the academic year and will remain divided until ACS is relocated.

ACS faculty and administrators have made professional contributions outside the institution:

Hi 098 Cultural Foundations instructor, Russell Raffay, was among 39 graduates in the first class of the diocesan Certificate in Catholic Evangelization (CCE) program. Academic and Cultural Enrichment

ESL 101 ESL Fundamentals class visited the Morris Auseum to see and experience the display on the American ndian and the Collection of Music Boxes and their history. Coupled with this was a "dining out" experience in which students were taught how to read and order from a menu.

Students from Ar 101, Art History and Appreciation, accompanied their instructor to the studio of local artist Cindy Reyner. The visit followed a November presentation by Mrs. Reyner at ACS that touched on the sources of her inspiration as an artist and discussed several of her actual works (brought to ACS classroom specifically or that purpose). It was the culmination of the class's focus on art appreciation and the nature of creativity.

Students attended an ACS fundraiser sponsored by Our .ady of Perpetual Help Church, Bernardsville, NJ. The old silent movie, "Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde" was the feature film accompanied by Mr. Trent Johnson, organist at the Church. -A 101 Music class attended the musical "West Side Story" performed by Delbarton School, Morristown, NJ.

First Year international students visited the Morris County Courthouse to obtain their Morris County Resident ID Cards. While there, they learned about the county history and actual vorking of the Courthouse; they also met the County Commissioner.

SC 102 Introduction to Biology students traveled to Liberty Science Center and explored current research in technology, ecology, and immunology. The theme of this year's ntroduction to Biology curriculum was science communication. Students debated lab results and analyzed graphs. They wrote papers on disease prevention and esearched conservation issues in Vietnam and Africa. Through class work, students learned how scientists perform experiments and discuss results. They also discovered that non-scientists, too, contribute to local and global discussions of relevant issues. Within the ACS science and mathematics program, students acquired strategies for life-long learning. Students of the ESL 108 Independent English Study and the Hi 102 World Civilization class was fortunate again this year o have as its guide Rev. Armand Mantia, pastor of Holy Spirit Church, Union, NJ, and a true historian of the Basilica. -r. Mantia gave an expansive presentation highlighting the ive ambulatory chapels surrounding the sanctuary which eflect the ethnic and racial diversity of the Roman Catholic Church in the Archdiocese of Newark at the time of construction. He also explained the dual purpose of the nagnificent stained glass windows as bringing color and ight to the faithful and teaching them about the lives of the saints.

The second part of the field trip was a luncheon at the Casa Seabra Portuguese restaurant in the Ironbound Section of Newark which afforded the students an opportunity to sample one of the hundreds of cuisines that are part of the abric of America. As an added highlight, one of the students, a former missionary in Brazil, spoke in Portuguese o the restaurant employees.

Students in FA 101 Drawing Class, proudly exhibited their new found talents in drawing. Contour drawing, shading, still ife were just a few of the media shown. ACS students along vith Sisters of the SCC Motherhouse and visitors that day vere welcomed to view the exhibit.

The FA 101 Fine Arts Appreciation Drawing Class was reated to a field trip to the Princeton University Art Museum. Docent Harvey Rothberg kept the students engaged by his nformative remarks, taking the small group through exhibits of Renaissance Drawings, the prints of Edvard Munch, and Renaissance and Baroque paintings which included some of he masterworks of Princeton's collection. The trip also eatured a final stop at the Gothic-style university chapel, the hird largest university chapel in the world.

Several International Students attended the International -estival held at St. Elizabeth College, at Convent Station, Morristown, NJ. The students were treated to a night of nusic, dancing, a fashion show and a wide variety of food, all with the multiple international flavors of many countries hroughout the world.

An integral part of the Th 098 course, Fundamentals of the Catholic Faith, is to familiarize the international Sister students with aspects of ministry in the American Church. For the second consecutive year, Sister Margaret Dincher, SCC, Pastoral Associate for Spirituality, has invited the class o visit Corpus Christi Parish for a tour of the facility and an explanation of the various ministries and outreach of the parish.

Several Sisters of Christian Charity and ACS students gathered with Bishop Serratelli at St. Philip's Church, Clifton, J to participate in the World Day of Prayer for Consecrated ife. An ACS student from Burundi presented a globe and a student from El Salvador offered flowers. Vietnamese students participated in a lovely candle procession. Sister Mary Edward Spohrer, SCC, (ACS '63) diocesan chancellor/ lelegate for religious, coordinated the evening. SCC novices and postulants provided singing and bell choir accompaniment. As part of the Ed 102 Health and Wellness course, 16 students were trained in the use of the AED (Automated External Defibrillator) and the skills necessary to perform CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation).

The international students participated in the annual "field experience". In the past, students lived and engaged in ninistries at various convents of the Sisters of Christian Charity and Salesian Sisters. This year, the experience took a different turn. While continuing to reside at the Aotherhouse of the Sisters of Christian Charity, students visited various ministries engaged in by the Sisters: Holy Family Convent, Danville, PA; St. Nicholas-St. Mary School and St. Nicholas Parish ministries, Wilkes-Barre, PA; St. ²aul-Inside-the-Walls, Madison, NJ; Passaic Women's and Children Center, Passaic, NJ. They also visited a facility providing specialized care, Birthhaven, Newton, NJ. nterspersed with these experiences were visits to religious, educational, and cultural sites: College of Saint Elizabeth and visit to the gravesite of the soon to be beatified Sister Airiam Teresa Demjanovich, Convent Station, NJ; Historic Speedwell Village ("birthplace of the telegraph"), Morris ²lains, NJ.

3rother Paul Diveny, OSB, Headmaster at Delbarton School, Aorristown, NJ, spoke about St. Benedict and the 3enedictine rule through the centuries to the Th 201, The Church: Its Nature and History class.

Public Relations and Outreach

Assumption College for Sisters students were the "face" of ACS many times during the course of the academic year. They served as hostesses and provided entertainment for he Caring Basket Gala, the major fundraiser for ACS. At the Motherhouse of the Sisters of Christian Charity, the vomen in initial formation play in the Bell Choir for local and liocesan events.

During the course of the year, the international students vere invited to participate at the special patronal feastday Our Lady of Lourdes) Mass at Morris Catholic High School. They added an international flavor with their singing and iturgical dancing.

The SCC women in initial formation have been highly visible n vocation school visits in both high school and elementary as well as assisting with "live-in" experiences at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of Christian Charity.

The college newsletter, Assumption's Current Sharings, continues to be the main vehicle for public relations along vith the newly designed website. The ACS Development Feam has assisted in the creation and management of an Alumni and Friends Network. The team has begun to connect with friends and benefactors through the website olog, Facebook page, Twitter, YouTube and LinkedIn group. They have sent several e-mails encouraging alumni to stay connected and to update ACS with their status since graduating.

The ACS website, both colorful and informative, hosts photos of fundraisers and other College events. There has been great success in getting news and feature stories in various local newspapers. ACS continues to seek avenues of involvement and opportunities for good public relations.

Conclusion

Nith the graduation of 2014, Assumption College for Sisters warded an AA degree for the 52st time.

Frue to its founding purpose, ACS continues its mission as a Sister Formation College, intent upon preparing religious vomen and those in formation for religious life for a lifetime of consecrated service to God's people. Lay persons vishing to grow in both knowledge and spirituality continue o augment and enhance the student body.

n his 2014 World Youth Day Homily in Brazil, Pope Francis yrayed:

"Lord, where do you send us to bring your love and mercy to others? There are no borders, no limits: you send us to everyone. Grant us the grace to remember that your love is not only for those who seem close to us, more receptive, more welcoming. It is for everyone. Help us not to be afraid to go and to bring the Gospel into every area of life, to the fringes of society; even to those who seem farthest away, most indifferent. You seek all, and you want everyone to feel the warmth of your mercy and love."

Dur ACS alumnae all over the world make these words ncarnate. We are proud to give them the gift of education to nake this possible. Along with you, our generous friends and benefactors, we are co-missionaries in "bringing the Bospel to every area of life."

As you read this report, we ask you to help us thank God for his manifold blessings on ACS and ask His blessing for its continuance into the future. Sister Joseph Spring, SCC President, Assumption College for Sisters August 2014
